

JobBlogs

About JobBLogs: JobBlogs is most readily described as CRM meets Project Management. It serves up a nice, intuitive and quick workspace tailored to work out universal team challenges — contacts, plans, activities, tasks, schedules, organize them in no time and track them during the work flow. The name is a mashup of Job and Blogs - not blogs in the traditional sense but in the sense of being enablers of two way communication and idea collaboration. It's a good solution for anyone handling large number of customer interactions - service based industries being the most obvious - anyone that requires daily coordination of a dynamic set of different data streams. Please visit <http://jobblogs.cc> for more information.

Contact: joblogs@office20.com

Scheduling: Schedule Meeting